

Letter from the Editor

It was my wish at the beginning of the 2022-2023 school year to instill York University as the pinnacle of philosophy for undergraduate students across North America. I am proud to announce this year we have seen a significant rise of paper submissions from across Canada, as was the case for our editorial positions. As a club, we look forward to expanding even further. We look forward to providing a medium for undergraduate students from diverse disciplines to question, to share ideas, to provoke, and to illuminate. In essence, this is our role as students of philosophy. With that, I leave you with the following message:

Allow your convictions, prejudices,
and habitual beliefs to be criticized.

Prepare yourself to be intrigued,
shocked, and amazed.

Digest, reason, and reflect.

In challenging the mind, we grow.

In defying the self, we overcome.

Now, repeat.

Sincerely,
Micheal Habib
Editor-in-Chief
